Making a Healthy Change

There are lots of ways to make a healthy change. You can experiment to find out what works best for you. First, choose something you want to change — pick something you can get excited about! Then use the questions below to make a plan. Try out your plan for a few weeks and see how it goes. You'll probably need to tweak your plan a few times to get it just right. That's what happens in experiments!

Be sure to share your plan with your healthcare providers so they can help.

This change is for (name): ____________________________ Age: _______ Date: _______

MY PLAN

MY OVERALL GOAL (for example, you could choose one of the 8 habits from Rx to LiVe on the other side of this page.):

STEPS TO HELP GET THERE:

What action do you want to do?________________________________________

What small steps could help you do this?________________________________

What could make this easier?

What could change about the places where you live, learn, work, or play?

What tools or resources could help?

Who could help you or do this with you?

What might make this harder?

When will you do this?

How often?

How will you make time for this?

What will remind you to do this?

How will you keep track of what you do?

When will you review how it’s going?

As you experiment, you’ll learn a lot about what works for you. Sometimes you’ll feel excited about your plan. Sometimes you’ll lose focus and have to get yourself going again. As long as you don’t give up, there’s NO failure. You’ll become your own best expert on how to make healthy changes.
